Dear Sir:

Oct. 15th, 1900.

'I had been suffering severely from kidney trouble. All symptoms were on hand; my former strength and power had left me; I could hardly drag myself along. Even my mental capacity was giving out, and often I wished to die. It was then I saw an advertisement of yours in a New York paper, but would not have paid any attention to it, had it not promised a sworn guarantee with every bottle of your medicine, asserting that your Swamp-Root is purely vegetable and does not contain any harmful drugs. I am seventy years and four months old, and with a good conscience I can recommend Swamp-Root to all sufferers from kidney troubles. Four members of my family have been using Swamp-Root for four different kidney diseases, with the same recomment kidney diseases, with the same recomment kidney diseases, with the same recomment in the same recomment in the same recommend in the same r four different kidney diseases, with the same

HIGHEST AVERAGE EXPENDITURE SOMEWHERE IN THE COUNTRY

Interesting Comparisons Made Recuperating From Shooting Affair With Nearby States.

"The people of the District of Columbia are entitled to an official compliment in that the records of the postal service for the past year show that they continue to use the mails proportionately more than three men in Virginia in defending himany other collective body of people in the United States, and are, therefore, the best patrons of the mails of all of the millions who rest secure under the stars and stripes," said a postal official to a Star man this morning.

"The gross receipts of the post offices by states form a reliable and official index of the business pulse of the different sections of the country, and the amount expended per capita in the use of the mails is a pretty good guide as to what the people in their localities are doing.

District Tops the List.

"The District of Columbia tops the list with the average amount expended last year per capita at $2.67. The preceding year it was also at the top with $2.51. This shows a material gain and indicates a whole lot of letter writing, not official, for that class of matter is carried free and does not count in these calculations. "These figures are higher than those of the great state of New York, which follows next with an expenditure per person of $2.50, as against $2.40 the preceding year. It will be observed that the ratio of in-crease between New York and the District of Columbia is about the same, which proves that our people are moving right along in the van of the procession—are on the front seat of the band wagon, in fact. "It is interesting to note that Illinois and Massachusetts run a neck-and-neck race for third place as the best patron by states of the mails, the expenditure per capita being $2.34 each. Colorado follows next with $2.28, Nevada with $2.26 and California with $2.05. And so the scale could be carried down the different states to the lowest, South Carolina, with only 41 cents, except Porto Rico, where the inhabitants of our newly acquired island in the Atlantic spent 7 cents each on an average last year Further Interesting Comparisons.

"But this is not all the praise the District may give itself in this connection. While it ranks fifty-third, or last, of all the states, territories and possessions in this country, it is first in its expenditures per person in using the mails. There are six post offices at present in the District, and their gross receipts last year were $744,618, an increase of about $45,000 over the preceding year. And while the District ranks forty-third of all the different states and territories in population, it ranks fourteenth in the average compensation paid fourth-class post-masters, of which there are four in the District, with an average compensation of $235 each. Massachusetts, which was fourth in each. Massachuseits, which was fourth in the list of average expenditures per capita, is first in the list of average compensation to these postmasters, with $362; Rhode Is-land second, with $348, and Connecticut third, with $323. New York is twelfth, with $242. The lowest average compensation re-ceived by postmasters by states is paid in North Carolina and Tennessee, with $96 and $94 respectively, per annum. $94, respectively, per annum.

Disappearance of Post Office Names. "The District had until the present year their patients and use it in their own families, he- a number of fourth-class post offices, fourcause they recognize in Swamp-Root the greatest teen, which will surprise many persons when it is considered that the District is but ten miles square, and that Washington occupies a goodly portion of it.

"They have been reduced, however, by consolidation, discontinuance and the establishing of stations, until now there are only four fourth-class offices—Benning, Deanewood, Kenilworth and Winthrop Heights. Washington and Langdon are presidential

"Many familiar names which have been given to fourth-class post offices in the Dis-trict are now interred in postal oblivion owing to their discontinuance and the ex-tension of free delivery service from the Washington city post office. Of these fourth-class post offices which have died natural deaths by reason of improved postal methods are Brightwood, Oak Grove, Ta-koma Park, Terra Cotta, University, Twin-ing, St. Elizabeth, Brookland, Congress Heights, Goodhope and Tenleytown.

"It is an interesting fact that Oak Grove has been a post office for a great many years, once sharing the honor, I think, with Washington and Georgetown as being one of the only three post offices in the District.
"There are fifty-six substations scattered throughout the city, mostly in drug stores. It takes 239 letter carriers to serve our mail this year, and a force of between 500 and 600 employes to operate our city post office, almost as large as the force of the Post Office Department, which is only a couple of hundred above it.

District Far Ahead of Near States. "To make more clear what I have told you about the District of Columbia being the best patron of the mails of any subdivision of the Union, let me take the three nearest states-Maryland, Virginia and

"Virginia stands thirty-eight below the District, being the thirty-ninth in the list of states, and her residents spent last year on an average per person 82 cents each for using the mails. West Virginia went her sister state one cent better each person, in 83 cents per capita.

"Maryland stands better, being the twenty-sixth, with $1.43 per capita to her credit.

"Thus it is shown that the people of the District of Columbia spend three times as much per capita for using the mails as do the people of Virginia and West Virginia. and almost twice as much as the people of the state of Maryland, which ought to make our own people feel that they are persons of some importance, from a postal standpoint, to say the least.
"And on average compensation of fourthclass postmasters as regards the three states named we may also wear the blue ribbon.

"Thus we pay our average fourth-class postmaster $235.34 a year, Maryland $156.71, West Virginia $124.96, and Virginia $115.83. "Upon the whole, for a little fellow territorially, the District of Columbia is doing very well, indeed, I thank you, and will take a back seat to none."

Rechabite Visitation. The grand tent officers of the Order of Rechabites of North America paid Hope Tent, No. 1, a visitation Monday evening last. There was a large attendance present, the hall being fairly packed. A. K. Belt, G. C. R., being unavoidably absent, the G. D. R., J. I. Bunch, assumed the chair. The officers were examined in the unwritten work of the order by the G. V. L., W. C. Lenz, who, in reporting, highly complimented the officers. The grand secretary and grand treasurer made favorable reports. The acting C. R. congratulated the tent upon the progress it had made, it having been organized only about a year and showing a large increase in membership and funds. Refreshments were served. Among those who made remarks were Nellie Bunch, Ida Bunch, Frank Harding, Lizzie King, Estella Scates, Hattie Loviess, Rose Malloy, Annie Malloy, Mary Malloy and Messrs. N. Bunch, J. I. Bunch, J. A. INCREASE IN A YEAR NERVES BADLY SHAKEN

NEW YORK, December 7.-William B. Marx, brother of Herbert Marx, said today that he did not know the present whereabouts of the young lawyer who shot self from attack.

"He is not in New York or Brooklyn," declared William B. Marx. "He is in the country, but not in Virginia. He is recuperating from the shock of his experience. He was very much upset a few days ago, but is better now.

"When my brother is well he will return to his home in Brooklyn. How soon that will be I cannot tell. I have not heard from him today, and do not know exactly where he is."

Started Home Thursday.

According to information received here from Virginia young Marx was supposed to have started homeward Thursday morning, but reports received here last night indicate that he is missing. What has become of him nobody seemed to know last night. He sent a telegram to New York saying he would meet his brother and brother-in-law at Fredericksburg, but the latest information gives it that he did not latest information gives it that he did not meet them. It is reported that Marx acted as if he were almost crazy when he learned that he had shot men who had been his friends, wringing his hands and giving other outward evidence of mental agony.

William L. Heflin, who died shortly after reaching the Emergency Hospital here, seemed very friendly with the man who had inflicted the fatal wound.

James Q. Stiff, who is still in the hospital, it is stated, refused to speak to Marx and seemed to regret more the failure of and seemed to regret more the failure of the party to use the tar and feathers than he did the injury he had received. The latest report from Westmoreland county gives information of the finding of a bag of straw in which there was a bottle of oil. The bag was found in the yard near the home of Marx, it is said, giving the im-pression that somebody thought of setting

Change in Public Sentiment. Public sentiment in the vicinity of the scene of the shooting seems to have undergone a change since the day after the shootng, and there now seems to be no ill-feeling toward young Marx. People about Oak Grove, where the Taylors live, seem satisfied that Marx never insulted Rose Taylor, the school girl, whose name has figured so prominently in the case. A member of the coroner's jury who voted to exonerate Marx is reported to have said: "Marx denied that he made any improper

A dispatch from Warsaw, Va., says: The shooting tragedy near Oak Grove, in Westmoreland county, is still the leading topic throughout the Northern Neck, where all the parties concerned are well and favorably known. Nothing has ever before occurred in this section of the county that has aroused such universal interest. It is now positively stated, on the very best authority, that Herbert Marx did not make improper advances to Miss Rose Taylor. The Taylor family physician says she denied in his presence in the most emphatic terms that Mr. Marx had treated her in a proposition manner and that the research an insulting manner, and that the report to the contrary was without the slightest foundation. The Kneisel Quartet. Mr. Arthur Whiting, who is to play with the Kneisel quartet at their concert at the National Rifles' Armory on Tuesday afternoon, is known in Washington by his compositions, but has as yet never before appeared as a performer in this city. He is one of the younger school of American composers, and with Prof. Parker of Yale, Prof. McDowell of Columbia and Mr. Chadwick of Boston, may be said to constitute the quartet of American composers of the present day who have attained more than American distinction. Mr. Whiting's com-positions have all been of the most serious character. He has composed works in larger form which have been given by the Boston Symphony Orchestra, and no year passes without the performance of some of his compositions by the Kneisel Quartet. He is to play with them at their next con-

Mr. Whiting is perhaps more widely known by his church music, of which he has written much; never of an extremely has written much; never of an extremely simple character, and always marked by high ideals. The work for the plano which has attracted the most attention is his "Suite Moderne," a series of characteristic pieces, thoroughly modern in form and perhaps showing the admiration which he feels for the great composer Brahms. The works of this master are not easily understood by any but musicians of the highest cultivation. The audience is sure to have from Mr. Whiting a rendition of the Brahms quartet for piano and strings which will exhibit in full the player's understanding of this composer's ideas.

For years new improvements have been going on. The results are marvelous, and today this wonder ful treatment is easily the greatest medical disovery of half a century, and it marks a revolution in treating diseases of the lungs. Hundreds of sufferers from Consumption, Bronchitis, Catarrh and Asthma will learn with joy that this wonderful treatment is given in Washington, at the original Koch Lung Cure, 627 E st. n.w. The vapors are breathed into the air tubes and reach the deep places in the lungs that are never touched by ordinary medicines, and heal the dis-eased spots. They soften the sore membranes, making them throw off their diseased coatings. As the lungs are healed they are strengthened. The pains in the chest, back and sides disappear. The strength returns. The improvement is so wonderful that the patient can hardly believe his senses. The only place in Washington where this won-derful treatment is to be had is at the original Koch Lung Cure, at 627 E st. n.w., where every patient takes the treatment out of his own private flask. The tuberculine used in this inhalation is prepared under the direction of the German Government and under the direct supervision of Dr. Robert Koch. It is sent to the Koch Lung Cure, at 627 E st. n.w., Washington, D. C. And yet thousands of people die every month in Washing-ton of lung diseases just because they do not know of this treatment.
